HOTEL CHOCOLAT

TOO GOOD TO HIDE

Easter is only a hop, skip and a jump away, but there's still time to treat your loved ones (and yourself) to something special. We've made it simple with a round-up of our most popular, crowd-pleasing picks that are made to be seen (and tasted).

EASTER HAMPERS

Newly hatched: We've expanded our selection of delightfully distinctive Easter hampers this year to help you find the perfect gift for everyone on your list.

EXTRA-THICK EGGS

Lavishly thick shell, satisfying snap. Brimming with filled chocolates, our Extra-Thick Easter Eggs have earned their place in the spotlight.

Packaging BOP:

When Seville gives us oranges, we make marmalade.

Smooth caramel-milk chocolate with a tang of orange and nibble of crispy éclat. Toasty crunch perfected with feuilletine and Guérande sea salt.

EGG SANDWICHES

Made for tucking into, not tucking away. We 3D-scanned real wholemeal bread to create textured chocolate slices for our Egg Sandwiches – then served them in takeaway boxes for extra authenticity.

TIDDLY EGGS

Don't be fooled by their smaller stature, these chocolate mini eggs are mighty in flavour. Tiddly enough to tuck away – but too good not to tuck into – these melt-in-pralines and ganaches are packed with authentic flavour. Find your favourite from a range of five distinct profiles.

We're calling time on predictable stocking fillers. Packed with personality, from our penguin's cosy bobble hat to our snowman's mismatched mittens, these charming Christmas characters come straight from the imagination of our in-house Chocolate Sculptress.

THE
WITHIN

This year, let the rolling chapters of your life blossom within your home. Give yourself permission to trust your taste and abandon convention. Only one rule holds true: If you love something, it belongs.

"A lived-in home — one that exudes charm and personality — is at the heart of our new collection," says Andrew Carnie, Co-President of Anthropologie. "It's our most expressive yet, allowing you to convey yourself in entirely new and unexpected ways."

Swaths of color and parades of pattern adorn bold new furniture silhouettes and tableware. Lush, vivid greenery traverses wallpapers and textiles. Budding blooms cascade over delicate inlay accents and gilt mirrors.

Life welcomes you home — embrace it.

From carbon-neutral DIAMONDS to RAINBOW-HUED GEMS, Irish brand CHUPI is disrupting the DIAMOND industry and looking to a SUSTAINABLY SPARKLING future

LIFE'S PRECIOUS MOMENTS – an engagement, a new arrival, a triumphant success at work – should be celebrated. With hand-crafted pieces that come with a commendable concern for sustainability, Irish brand Chupi is the ultimate go-to for these milestones and so much more. As founder Chupi Sweetman eloquently puts it, "Traditionally, diamonds have only served women on hallmark days, but in reality, our lives are far more complex. We have loss, bravery, hope... We mark all those moments, with a strong belief in better. Not perfect, but better."

From eye-catching engagement rings and wedding bands, to crown-stacking rings and wild beauty pearl earrings, each Chupi collection is an exquisitely considered celebration. Think conflict-free diamonds in grey, white and rainbow hues, one hundred per cent recycled 14k gold and sustainable carbon neutral, lab-grown diamonds. Other highlights for the brand include Sweetman's interest in on-trend gems such as pink diamonds and sapphires. The personal placement of jewellery is important to Sweetman too, meaning the pieces make a statement whether worn as an engagement ring or on the right hand.

And to mark a decade of these precious stories, the brand has launched a collection called One In A Trillion. Sweetman went into the brand's archives to bring out the best of Chupi. The crown jewel here is the lab-diamond engagement ring. Centred around an oval cut diamond, contrasted with two trillion cut diamonds on either side, all three jewels are lab-grown and carbon neutral. The band is modelled after a hawthorn twig silhouette, creating a uniquely faceted texture cast in recycled, 14k solid gold. A true celebration of the iconic, modern bride.

This thread of storytelling, paired with a conscious and consistent commitment to the finest, sustainable product make Chupi one to watch.

Marking life's most precious moments

Love, hope, and everything in-between

It's the moment you met.
It's the moment you knew they were the one.
It's the moment you welcomed them into the world.
It's the triumphs and the tribulations.
It's the arrivals and the departures.
It's something that's made to last forever, not just a season.
It's a piece of the past and a piece of the future.
It's moments, not possessions.
It's every chapter in life's perfectly imperfect journey.
