

A UNIQUE & IMMERSIVE CAMPUS EXPERIENCE

Campus Movie Fest (CMF) the world's largest student film festival – has already enabled over 1 million students around the globe to create short movies and see them on the big screen. Participants produce thousands of short films during innovative, multi-week events that provide all the necessary technology, training, and resources. Students on your campus will never forget walking down the red carpet and celebrating their own creations.

Campus Movie Fest was created by four students at Emory University in 2001, and now they and their team at Ideas United (IU) have the privilege to share the event worldwide. IU looks forward to discussing how your school can be a part of the 2019-2020 CMF Tour.

ABOUT CAMPUS MOVIE FEST

- CMF provides thousands of college students across the country with all of the equipment and training they need to make a five-minute movie in one week.
- CMF encourages all students -- not just film majors -- to celebrate teamwork, storytelling, and creativity.
- Students have one week to create a short film about anything they want -- comedies, dramas, animations, documentaries, and more.
- Each campus has its own CMF Premiere, an event that lets students experience all of glitz and glamour of the red carpet, see their movies on the big screen, and collect tons of prizes and swag.
- The top films from each school move on to compete nationally at CMF Terminus, a three-day event in Atlanta that brings emerging creatives from all over the world together for workshops, screenings, networking, parties, and more.
- Every film is available online at campusmoviefest.com, creating hundreds of thousands of impressions and allowing students to share their stories with the world.
- Campus Movie Fest films have been showcased at the most prestigious film festivals in the world, including the Tribeca Film Festival and the Cannes International Film Festival.
