Crawler Warnings

These pages contain instructions telling search engines to ignore them. When used correctly, these instructions can help a search engine crawl and index your important pages more efficiently and effectively. However, if used incorrectly or accidentally, these instructions can result in valuable pages being ignored, resulting in loss of traffic. It is important to evaluate each of these issues individually and use caution when changing these instructions. Below, you will see the number of new Crawler Warnings over time, as well as the top 5 pages on your site that have these warnings.
