

Fact sheet: Laufey

- Laufey is celebrated for combining classic jazz with pop influences, appealing to a younger audience while honoring the jazz tradition.
 - Why it's important: This blend defines Laufey's distinctive sound, making her music accessible to a broad, younger audience while honoring traditional jazz, setting her apart in a unique niche.
- Laufey's single "Street by Street" gained global attention in 2020, showcasing her unique jazz-pop style and launching her into the music scene.
 - Why it's important: This song was Laufey's breakthrough into the public eye, introducing her unique style to a global audience and jump-starting her career.
- Released in 2022, Laufey's debut album, Everything I Know About Love, received critical acclaim worldwide for its nostalgic yet modern jazz sound.
 - Why it's important: Her debut album solidified her reputation in the music world, showcasing her ability to weave storytelling with jazz-pop fusion and earning critical acclaim that cemented her place as an emerging artist.
- Laufey cites Ella Fitzgerald, Billie Holiday, and Chet Baker as key influences, linking her work to jazz icons.
 - Why it's important: These influences help fans understand the depth and vintage qualities in her music.
- Laufey is a classically trained cellist and pianist, which enriches her musicality and lends sophistication to her songwriting.
 - Why it's important: Laufey's background in classical music adds sophistication and complexity to her songs, distinguishing her sound with a level of technical skill and musicality.
- Laufey gained a strong following through TikTok, where she shares music and personal anecdotes.
 - Why it's important: Her presence on TikTok allowed her to connect with a young, global audience and grow her fan base organically and have a strong loyal following.
- Her ethnicity is Icelandic and Chinese.
 - Why it's important: She brings unique cultural perspectives and identity to her work and her diverse audience.
- Laufey writes songs in both English and Icelandic.
 - Not as important: While this is unique and adds to her cultural appeal, it's not as defining as her jazz-pop fusion style, which is what most fans focus on.
- Laufey attended the prestigious Berklee College of Music, which honed her skills and connected her with fellow artists.
 - Not as important: Although Berklee adds credibility, her unique artistry and genre-blending approach are more defining aspects of her public image.

- A Night at the Symphony: Hollywood Bowl is a concert movie where Laufey performs with the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra. It's available in theaters from December 6 to December 8.
 - Not as important: This is relevant in the short term but will become outdated in a few days, thus having less lasting importance.